

LEADERSHIP GREENSBORO CLASS 2011

(Applications due by Monday, 5/31/10)

LEADERSHIP GREENSBORO

Think about it. You or someone you know could join one of Greensboro's most resourceful groups -- the men and women of Leadership Greensboro. Since 1976, approximately 1,350 members have taken part in this civic development initiative of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce. During the course of the program, you'll be informed, enlightened and motivated. You'll be challenged to tackle the tough, complex problems our community faces. You'll be very determined to apply your newly enhanced skills and talents in volunteer, appointed and elected leadership roles... not just for today but for a long time to come.

DEVELOP YOUR SKILLS

Over a nine-month period, you'll take an in-depth look at the capacities needed for effective 21st century community leadership. You'll have an opportunity to analyze individual learning styles. Develop an awareness of yourself as a leader. Develop a critical understanding of the stages of a performing community. Develop skills as a transformational leader.

GAIN HANDS-ON KNOWLEDGE

Before each monthly session you'll meet with other class members to focus on what you've learned and what you are about to learn. During the Leadership Greensboro program you'll interact with class members and community leaders from the public and private sectors. You'll acquire information through dialogue and reflection.

Topics will include:

- Coalition Building
- Enabling Change
- Collaboration
- Facilitation
- Conflict Management
- Servant Leadership
- Consensus Building
- Visioning

LEARNING PROJECTS

Members of your class will come together in small teams to address community challenges. Topics will reflect current community concerns, needs or opportunities. Researched conclusions and proposed solutions are included in a final project presentation by each of the teams. You'll have the opportunity to assess your project experience. What worked? What didn't? What would you do differently next time? On Learning Projects Presentation Day your group will present its findings to other Leadership Greensboro members.

EXPERIENCE GAINED

As an outcome of your Leadership Greensboro experience, you'll better understand key leadership principles essential for successful leadership work. With strengthened leadership capacities, you'll be positioned to increase your commitment to and ownership in Greensboro and Guilford County, at the community, business and personal levels. You'll be better prepared to take leadership to action.

PARTICIPANTS/SELECTION

Each year approximately 40 – 45 participants are selected through a collaborative effort of Leadership Greensboro and community leaders. Diversity in organization, profession, race, gender, age, culture, economics and sexual orientation are factors in the class selection. Individuals who evidence an ongoing commitment to community service in Greensboro and Guilford County will be sought.

LEADERSHIP GREENSBORO CLASS 2011

(Applications due by Monday, 5/31/10)

TIME COMMITMENT

Current Class Year

The induction phase is the new participant's introduction to Leadership Greensboro and community leadership through a formal experience lasting approximately nine months. It emphasizes personal development, knowledge, and hands-on community exposure with the following four goals: (1) to develop the concept of individual and community leadership in the participant's life and to enhance capacities and skills necessary for the successful exercise of leadership; (2) to provide an understanding of the community, its history, and the issues that must be confronted for a successful future; (3) to develop personal awareness of and an understanding of the value of individual differences and the importance of community collaboration; and, (4) to connect class members to one another, to the members of the larger Leadership Greensboro organization, and to the community.

You'll need to consider planning for thirteen days of formal programming throughout the nine-month period as well as preparation time for class sessions and the learning project. There is a formal Attendance Policy for the Leadership Greensboro program.

Year Following Induction (Graduation)

After completion of the induction phase (graduation), new Leadership Greensboro members (you), along with your entire LG Class, are charged with planning and executing the formal programming schedule for the next year's Leadership Greensboro class. Each new member will sign up to plan a program day of their choice, with responsibility for planning the agenda, any activities, as well as all the logistics: location, meals, finding financial support, etc. We believe this moves the new members immediately into community leadership involvement and introduces the new members to the greater Leadership Greensboro organization.

Lifelong Involvement (Leadership Greensboro Membership)

Leadership Greensboro Membership is the continuing involvement of the new member in the Leadership Greensboro organization. The goals for this lifelong phase are: (1) to provide continual networking, social and educational opportunities for members, that provide capacity development, to assure their effective and successful community involvement; (2) to create an extended network of allies; (3) to provide educational opportunities that equip members with an increased understanding of various aspects of community issues; and (4) to identify involvement opportunities and placement for members through contacts with local agencies and organizations.
